THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1.

AFTER reading THE GAZETTE, wrap it up and send it to your friends in the East.

MR. GEORGE W. CHILDS, the millionaire publisher of the Philadelphia Ledger, says: "Probably every man who has been exposed to the shafts of malice can truthfully say that he has found his bitterest enemy to be the man upon whom he once conferred his choicest favors. Still it is a foolish man who would let the ingratitude of one or a dozen men render him callous to all the rest of the world."

Among the many applicants for the East Side Postmastership there is no one more worthy or better entitled to the position than Senator Keller. He is a true Democrat, and has worked hard in the interests of Las Vegas and New Mexico in the days gone by without any compensation. To appoint him to the position of Postmaster would be conferring upon a worthy man a fitting reward. Let his petition be signed by every one.

CHIEF JUSTICE VINCENT is growing more popular every day. At Springer he made a host of friends, and by his good judgment and keen sense of right and wrong he finally terminated the great fictional trouble which has for some time past agitated the otherwise peaceful and harmonious society of that place. The docket was unusually large, there being 170 criminal cases; the majority of them, however, were quickly disposed of. Judge Vincent imposed light fines, and in each case delivered what Clerk Webb calls a $500 lecture.

The attempt of England to convince the Sultan's advisers that it is their duty to restore order in the Soudan has thus far given little indication of success. Sir Henry Drummond Wolff, the English Commissioner, is an adroit diplomatist, but he must perform miracles if he succeeds in arranging any basis of action which will prove satisfactory to all parties concerned. The Turkish government is nothing if not mercenary, and it will not garrison Suakim or take charge of the Eastern Soudan simply for the sake of restoring the Khedive's authority in an empire from which England has ousted it. Occupation can only be effected at a great cost and maintained at the risk of constant hostilities with the natives, and there is nothing to be gained which will materially compensate for the expense. It will demand substantial compensation for such an undertaking, and the terms exacted for a Turkish military expedition to Suakim are likely to be the hardest England has ever made. The abdication of the Khedive and the restoration of Ismail will probably be insisted upon as preliminary conditions, while the statement that the Sultan disapproves of the occupation of the Soudan by Turkish troops, and of an Anglo-Turkish occupation of a whole of Egypt, indicates the price which England will have to pay for his assistance. The jealousy of France, too, and her refusal to recognize any arrangements to which she is not a party, adds a new difficulty to a situation already made serious by the threats of Russia's withdrawal from the trammels imposed by the Berlin treaty in the event of an Anglo-Turkish alliance. In brief, the outlook is anything but reassuring, the more that the reported anxiety of Italy to arrange definitely with England for the permanent occupation of the Eastern Soudan is probably little more than a desire to settle the status of the new Italian settlements, over which the Egyptian flag still floats and the suzerainty of the Porte extends. No project of such magnitude as the acquisition of the Eastern Soudan, with Khartoum as a capital, is probably contemplated by Italy, nor has she the remotest intention of interfering in the affairs of that region. Under these circumstances, the mission of Sir Henry Wolff is likely to prove little more than a novel and interesting episode in European politics, wholly destitute of practical results so far as the solution of the Egyptian problem is concerned. It marks, however, the revival of Turkish diplomacy in England, and the reversion of the Conservative ministry to the Beaconsfield theory that the key of every European situation is to be found in the Sultan's palace.

We offer no apology for devoting so much time and attention to this much-neglected class of diseases, believing that no condition of humanity is so wretched as to merit the sympathy and best services of the physician who devotes himself to relieving the afflicted and saving them from worse than death, is no less a philanthropist and a benefactor to his race than the surgeon or physician who by close application excels in any other branch of his profession. And, finally, for humanity, the day is dawning when the false philanthropy that condemned the victims of folly or crime, like the lepers under the Jewish law, to die uncared for, has passed away.

YOUNG MEN
Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretions will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. Dr. Wagner will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of seminal weakness or private disease of any kind and character which he undertakes to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN
There are many at the age of 30 to 40 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits aropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin, milky hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. W. will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases, and a healthy restoration of the genital-urinary organs. Thorough examination and advice $5.

her elegant hotels, street railways, gas, water works and other evidences of modern progress, into the fastnesses of the mountains, and in full view of the ruins of the old Pecos church, built upon the foundation of an Aztec temple, and the traditional birthplace of Montezuma, the culture-god of the Aztecs. It is only half a day's ride by rail from Las Vegas hot springs to the old Spanish city of Santa Fe. Santa Fe is the oldest and most interesting city in the United States. From Santa Fe the railroad runs down the valley of the Rio Grande to a junction at Albuquerque with the Atchafalpa and Pacific railroad, and at Deming with the Southern Pacific from San Francisco, passing on the way the prosperous city of Socorro, the beautiful Lake Valley and Pecos mining district, finally reaching Deming, from which point the city is only forty-five miles distant and may be reached over the S. F. & N. E. R. R. The recent discoveries of chlorides in the Rocky mountains, near Silver City, exceed anything in the Rocky mountain in richness. Shipments of the ore have been made to Pueblo to be run as high as 45 per cent pure silver. For further information address

Passes through the territory from northeast to southwest consulting the map the reader will see that at a point called Las Las, in Colorado, the New Mexico extension leaves the main line, runs southwest through Trinidad and enters the territory through Raton pass. The traveler here begins the most interesting journey on the continent. As he is carried by powerful engines on a steel-railed, rock ballasted track up the steep ascent of the Raton mountains, with their charming scenery, he catches frequent glimpses of the Spanish peaks far to the north, glittering in the morning sun and presenting the grandest spectacle in the whole Rocky range. When half an hour from Trinidad, the train suddenly dashes into a tunnel from which it emerges on the southern slope of the Raton mountains and in sunny New Mexico.

At the foot of the mountain lies the city of Raton, whose extensive and valuable coal fields make it one of the busiest places in the territory. From Raton to Las Vegas the route lies along the base of the mountains. On the right are the snow peaks in full view while on the east lie the grassy plains, the ONEAT GARTER HANGER of the southwest, which stretch away hundreds of miles into the Indian Territory. The train reaches Las Vegas in time for dinner.

Las Vegas, with an enterprising population of nearly 10,000, chiefly Americans, is one of the principal cities of the territory. Here are located those wonderful healing fountains, the Las Vegas hot springs. Nearly all the way from Kansas City the train passes over the route of the "Old Santa Fe Trail," and now lies through a country which, aside from the beauty of its natural scenery, bears on every hand the impress of the old Spanish civilization, grafted centuries ago upon the still more ancient and more interesting Pueblo and Aztec stock. Strange contrasts present themselves everywhere with the new engraving of American life and energy. In one short hour the traveler passes from the city of Las Vegas with her fashionable
